☞See Table of Gold, Silver, and Minor Coinage on page 32.

THIS Detector is issued the first of every month. In case a new counterfeit appears our subscribers will at once be notified. All changes will be made in the body of the work; and as it is kept in type, instead of stereotyped, this can readily be done. With each number is furnished a card, containing the names of all counterfeit and stolen bank-notes, and a new and very valuable classification of counterfeit United States notes, especially adapted for counter use. This feature gives this work the advantage of both single sheet and pamphlet form.

The plan of this Detector in giving the names of Register and Treasurer on all counterfeit notes is of great value, as many of these banks have notes in circulation bearing the name of two or more Registers and Treasurers; and as the counterfeits are all printed from the same plate, by using this list any one, without being a judge of money, can instantly decide as to the genuineness of a large number of notes on which counterfeits are in circulation. We give a copy of the counterfeit note. The date is not given unless it differs from the genuine. This simple plan furnishes an infallible test in a large number of cases.

The list of genuine numbers on all bank-notes that have been counterfeited, and which is given only in this work, is of the utmost importance to all who handle National Bank notes. It not only enables any one to instantly detect a counterfeit, but by its use the genuineness of a note can be verified. This information is worth many times the price of this work, and will not be found in any other publication.

☞ In all cases where the single line explanation or the list of numbers will not enable any one to detect a counterfeit bank-note, a full explanation is given.

Our tables of called and stolen United States bonds are corrected each month, and as the Called Bond Table comprises all the calls, they will be found indispensable to all bankers and brokers.

Department news will hereafter be a regular feature of the work. It is our intention to make this work a necessity to the business community.

UNDERWOOD'S
COUNTERFEIT DETECTOR.

VOL. II.] JANUARY, 1879. [No. 1.

Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1879, by B. G. UNDERWOOD, with the Librarian of Congress at Washington, D. C.

OUR SECOND VOLUME.

The present number commences our second volume. We reprint on the third page of the cover, for the benefit of new subscribers, the rulings of the Treasurer of the United States, on the circular requiring parties remitting bank-notes for redemption to pay expressage.

It should be borne in mind that expressage is only deducted on the bank-notes received. Returns are made in even thousands of dollars in new United States notes of any denomination requested; in Subsidiary Silver Coin or in Standard Silver Dollars, free of all charges.

There seems to be a wide-spread impression that one and two dollar notes will not be issued hereafter. This is a mistake as regards United States notes, as they can be obtained in any amount of even thousands in return for mutilated United States notes or National Bank notes forwarded for redemption. The withdrawal of National Bank notes of these denominations will scarcely be felt, as they amount to less than one-sixth of those outstanding, as will be seen by a table published elsewhere.

The table of the values in United States money of the pure gold or silver representing the monetary units and standard coins of foreign countries, which is prepared on the 1st of January of each year, by the Director of the Mint, will be found on the next page. As this table is used in estimating the values of all foreign merchandise made out in any of said currencies, imported on or after January 1, 1879, it will be found very useful to a large class of merchants, as well as to all bankers and brokers. It should be remembered that foreign coins are not a legal tender for any amount.

The calls for United States Bonds will undoubtedly hereafter be made for larger amounts. The subscription of over $8,000,000 for four per cent. bonds on January 2 did not leave much margin on the call issued the day previous for $10,000,000.

☞ Bankers and others who have obtained rulings on questions of general interest from the Treasury will confer a favor by furnishing a copy to the Publishers.

EXPRESS CHARGES.

Bankers remitting National Bank-notes to the Treasury for redemption should remember that express charges are deducted under the contract rates, on each thousand or fractional part thereof. The amount charged on $1,000.50 is the same as on $2,000.

When it is desirable to enclose express charges so as to have the proceeds in even thousands, bankers can avoid being charged for another thousand by marking the package in this manner: $4,000 bank-notes, $1.50 for expressage.

The above rates will be taken in estimating the values of all foreign merchandise made out in any of said currencies, imported on and after January 1, 1879.

JOHN SHERMAN, Secretary of the Treasury.

ONES AND TWOS OUTSTANDING.

The following table shows the amount of one and two dollar United States and National Bank notes outstanding November 1, 1878:

	United States Notes.	National Bank Notes.	Total.
Ones	20,368,531	4,284,219	24,652,750
Twos	20,332,920	2,582,146	22,915,066
Total of all denominations.	346,681,016	319,652,122	666,333,128

From the above table it will be seen that the proportion of bank-notes of these denominations is much less than of United States notes. Over 11 per cent of the latter to a little over 2 per cent. of the former were outstanding on the above date.

The issue of National Bank notes of these denominations ceased on the 1st of January, and in consequence large amounts of these notes were issued to the banks during December.

RESUMPTION OF SPECIE PAYMENTS.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., December, 14, 1878.

The following provision of law, and instructions thereunder, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

AN ACT to provide for the resumption of specie payments.

* * * * * * *

SECTION 3. * * * And on and after the first day of January, anno Domini eighteen hundred and seventy-nine, the Secretary of the Treasury shall redeem, in coin, the United States legal-tender notes then outstanding, on their presentation for redemption at the office of the Assistant Treasurer of the United States in the City of New York, in sums of not less than fifty dollars. * * *

Approved January 14, 1875.

As the effect of the above section will be to remove any practical difference in the value of coin and notes as a circulating medium after the first of January next, no distinction between them will be made in keeping, rendering, or settling the accounts of public officers, involving transactions which occur subsequently to that date.

Matured coupons of the United States, and checks issued by the Treasurer of the United States for interest or principal of the public debt, by law payable in coin, will be paid by the Assistant Treasurer of the United States at New York, upon presentation, in coin, or, if the claimant prefers, such coupons and checks will be paid by the said Assistant Treasurer, or by any other independent-treasury officer, in United States notes.

Such registered interest, payable by law in coin, as is paid on schedules at any other cities than New York, will also be paid the claimant in coin, by check on the Assistant Treasurer of the United States at New York, which check may be cashed in United States notes if the holder prefer, or, if the claimant prefers, such interest may be paid to him direct in United States notes by the officer charged with the payment of the schedule.

Any check or draft hereafter drawn in payment of a public obligation, by law payable in coin, will have that fact plainly noted thereon.

JOHN SHERMAN, Secretary.

DISTRIBUTION OF STANDARD-SILVER DOLLARS.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., January 1, 1879.

The Treasurer of the United States has been directed, upon the receipt by him from any person of a certificate, issued by any Assistant Treasurer, Designated Depositary, or National Bank designated as a public depositary of the United States, stating that a deposit has been made to his credit in general account of the sum of one thousand (1,000) dollars, (that being the smallest amount shipped by express at Government rates,) or any multiple thereof, to cause a shipment to be made from some Mint of the United States to the person in whose name the certificate is issued, of a like amount of Standard-Silver Dollars, the expense of transportation to be paid by the Mint.

Until further notice, upon receipt by the Treasurer of the United States of United States notes or National-Bank notes sent for redemption, in multiples of $1,000, Standard-Silver Dollars will be returned under the provisions of this circular.

It is expected that the coin furnished as above will be put into circulation by being furnished to Public Disbursing Officers, and to all persons or corporations who desire it for use or distribution as current money.

The Assistant Treasurers of the United States are also authorized to use the Standard-Silver Dollars in their vaults for the general purpose approved in this circular.

United States Disbursing Agents and Paymasters who obtain funds for disbursement from Assistant Treasurers or Depositaries are requested to procure Standard-Silver Dollars when practicable, for disbursement.

Shipments as above indicated, however, will be made only to points in the United States reached through established express lines by continuous railway or steamboat communication.

JOHN SHERMAN, Secretary.

STOLEN NATIONAL BANK NOTES.

The recent loss of $500 of unsigned bank-notes by the National Bank of Pontiac, Ill., has called the attention of the public to the fact that the detection of these notes is extremely difficult. They are complete in every respect save the signatures of the bank officers, and as they can only be detected by remembering the numbers on the stolen notes, the only safe course for the public is to refuse all notes of the denominations and issues stolen.

The banks in giving notice to the Treasurer of the United States of the loss of these unsigned notes, and requesting him to reject them when presented for redemption, are acting directly against their own interests, as having given receipts to the Comptroller of the Currency for these notes they cannot obtain possession of their bonds deposited as security for circulation until they deposit United States notes for the full amount of their outstanding circulation.

The total amount of notes that were stolen from the banks is but $13,900. One can hardly conceive a more short-sighted policy than to cause the public to scrutinize over $70,000 in ten and twenty-dollar notes for the detection of $240 in tens and $160 in twenties, as is done in the case of the notes stolen from the Merchants' National Bank of Albany, N. Y., a bank with a surplus fund of $200,000.

Now that Congress has made an appropriation of $5,000 to redeem the notes that were stolen from the Treasury, it would seem that self interest would cause the banks to redeem the notes that were stolen in most instances through their own carelessness.

We are sure the following, taken from the report of Treasurer Spinner for 1874, will be read with interest:

It is claimed by the Osage National Bank of Osage, Iowa, that $9,000 of the unsigned notes of that institution were taken from its custody, and that it is therefore released from liability to redeem the same. Should this plea be allowed, any bank so disposed might put its own unsigned notes into circulation for a valuable consideration, and then repudiate its liability to redeem them.

It is well recollected that an early effort was made on the part of the national banks to get the departmental consent to have the names of the bank officers printed upon their notes, the same as on the United States notes, and that the then Secretary, Governor Chase, declined to grant their seemingly reasonable request. Had he given his consent no question could now arise as to the liability of this bank to redeem these its notes that through its own negligence passed into the circulation of the country, and are now held by parties who hold them for valuable considerations.

Whenever unfinished United States notes have been presented at the Treasury they have been redeemed. Restitution has always been made either by the bank note companies or by the employés of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in the Treasury Department, as the one or the other may have been in fault for their fraudulent issue. The same rule is followed by the bank-note companies when unfinished bank-notes are unaccounted for and find their way into circulation.

No good reason can be urged why the banks themselves should not be held equally responsible when through their own fault their unsigned notes get into circulation. That they eventually cannot avoid this responsibility is evidenced by the facts that the Government holds the bank's receipt for the notes, and that the United States bonds pledged for their redemption, in custody of the Treasurer, can never be surrendered until the bank shall return the notes for the redemption of which they are held, or by the deposit of an equal amount of United States notes. It is only a question whether the liability on the part of the bank to redeem these notes shall attach at once or at some future time. Under these circumstances it is believed that public policy, justice to the holders of these notes, and the true interest of the banks themselves, require the passage of a law authorizing the Treasurer of the United States to redeem the unsigned notes that have been or that may hereafter be delivered to and receipted for by a bank in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as other national-bank notes are now by law redeemed.

COUNTERFEIT NATIONAL BANK NOTES.

The following List embraces all the Counterfeits that have been presented at the National Bank Redemption Agency from its organization to the present time, and it is believed all that are in actual circulation. The Treasury Department will not issue any more notes of the denominations and issues named below bearing the signature of the Register and Treasurer given in this Counterfeit list, (with the exception of five-dollar notes of the Pocasset National Bank of Fall River, Massachusetts,) and all such notes, whatever may be their condition, received by the Treasurer of the United States, will be destroyed. All the counterfeits in circulation bear the names of the Register and Treasurer given in this List, except in cases where the plate has not yet been captured, the names of all such Banks being designated with a star, The check-letter (A) which is printed in bold-face capitals in the List, will be found in the upper and lower corners, diagonally opposite, on all National Bank Notes. Any note of which counterfeits are in circulation can be taken as good if the signatures of the Register and Treasurer differ from those given in this List, and all notes may be taken where the signatures are the same, provided the check-letter is different. In nearly every case, where a doubtful bank-note is presented, a certain test may be had by comparison with the list of genuine numbers given on following pages.

In all cases where the single line explanation or the list of numbers will not enable any one to detect a counterfeit, a complete description is given.

☞ The public will not find the names of some counterfeits in this List that appear in other Detectors, as we do not give names where the entire lot was captured before completion, as was the case with the reported counterfeit $5 on the National Bank of Castleton, N. Y.

* AMSTERDAM, N. Y. — B — Manufacturers' National Bank.
JOHN ALLISON, Register. — F. E. SPINNER, Treasurer.

General appearance fair, while the engraving is coarsely done; particularly noticeable is the faces and shading of large letters on face of note. Engraving of the line "with the U. S. TREASURER at WASHINGTON," just over the signature of Register and Treasurer, very poorly done. On the counterfeit, below the letters TREA in TREASURER, and just above the printed signature of Allison, is a flourish. This flourish does not appear on the genuine. The work on back of note is much inferior to that on the face.

* NEW YORK, N. Y. A & C National Broadway Bank.
S. B. COLBY, Register. F. E. SPINNER, Treasurer.

On the genuine, the end of the oar in the hand of the soldier in the bow of the boat touches the circle surrounding "50" in border of note; on the counterfeit, it does not touch the border of the note, and is quite a distance below the circle. On the genuine, the letter "t" in the words "to bearer" is one-sixteenth of an inch distant from the oar in stern of boat; on the counterfeit, it touches. On the counterfeit, the left hand of the central figure of Victory in upper right end of note is without thumb or fingers. On the back of note the bandage does not cover the eyes of the figure of Justice in the State coat of arms. Signatures of bank officers are written. All notes having check-letters B, C, or D are counterfeit.

ONE HUNDREDS.

BOSTON, MASS. A First National Bank.
L. E. CHITTENDEN, Register. F. E. SPINNER, Treasurer.

*BOSTON, MASS. A National Revere Bank.
S. B. COLBY, Register. F. E. SPINNER, Treasurer.

On the counterfeit the face of sailor in bow of boat in lower left end of note resembles a death's head. On the genuine, the end of the "y" in the printed signature of Colby comes directly over the "a" in Mass.; on the counterfeit, it comes between the "a" and "s." On the genuine, the end of the "p" in the signature of Spinner is indistinct, and does not cross the J in July; on the counterfeit, it is very distinct, and plainly crosses the J.

CINCINNATI, OHIO. A Ohio National Bank.
L. E. CHITTENDEN, Register. F. E. SPINNER, Treasurer.

---

*NEW BEDFORD, MASS. A Merchants' National Bank.
S. B. COLBY, REGISTER. F. E. SPINNER, Treasurer.

On the counterfeit, the face of sailor in bow of boat in lower left end of note resembles a death's head. On the counterfeit, the end of the "y" in the printed signature of Colby comes over the M in Mass.; on the genuine, it comes over the first "s." The end of "p" in the signature of Spinner does not touch the F in February; on the genuine, it plainly crosses the top of the F.

NEW YORK, N. Y. A Central National Bank.
L. E. CHITTENDEN, Register. F. E. SPINNER, Treasurer.

---

*PITTSFIELD, MASS. A Pittsfield National Bank.
S. B. COLBY, Register. F. E. SPINNER, Treasurer.

On the counterfeit, the face of sailor in bow of boat in lower left end of note resembles a death's head, and the faces of rest of boat's crew are much coarser than in genuine. The signatures of the bank officers are printed in different colored ink, which gives them the appearance of being written. Signed E. S. Francis, Cashier, and John V. Barker, Vice-President. The lettering and numbering is better done on this note than on any counterfeit $100 that has heretofore been issued. All 100's on this bank must be carefully examined.

---

*WILKESBARRE, PA. A Second National Bank.
L. E. CHITTENDEN, Register. F. E. SPINNER, Treasurer.

On the counterfeit, the face of sailor in bow of boat in lower left end of note resembles a death's head. On the genuine, the tops of the letters W and B in Wilkes Barre cross the word "Register;" on the counterfeit, they do not touch. On the genuine, the top of the letter N in Nov'r touches the words "Treasurer of;" on the counterfeit, it does not touch. This bank has notes of the Series of 1875 in circulation, but as this series has not been counterfeited all such notes may be taken as genuine.

STOLEN NATIONAL BANK NOTES.

The National Bank notes described below were stolen when unsigned, the signatures of the bank officers forged, and the notes put in circulation. They are rejected when presented for redemption, for the reason that, in the opinion of the law officers of the Department, they are not obligatory promissory notes of the banks.

☞ The Bank number on all stolen National Bank Notes is in the lower left-hand corner, and the Treasury number in the upper right-hand corner.

* These notes are of the series of 1875.

NUMBERS OF GENUINE NATIONAL BANK NOTES THAT HAVE BEEN COUNTERFEITED

So arranged that any one can decide if a Note is genuine.

The following list embraces the numbers on genuine National Bank notes that have been counterfeited up to the series of 1875. All National Bank notes bearing the signature of F. E. Spinner as Treasurer were issued prior to the series of 1875. All notes of series of 1875 bear ANOTHER name than that of F. E. Spinner as Treasurer. On 2's, the Treasury number is in the lower left-hand corner of the note, and the bank number in the upper right-hand corner. On all other denominations that have been counterfeited, the Treasury number is in the upper right hand corner of the note, and the bank number in the lower left-hand corner. This list has been arranged for reference in the same way. On the 2's, the Treasury numbers have been placed on the left of the bank numbers, and on all other denominations on the right. For convenience in reference, the Treasury numbers have been arranged in numerical order, so one can tell at a glance if a certain number should appear on a note. In order to ascertain if a note is genuine, see if the Treasury number on the note comes between a series of numbers given in this list as issued to that bank; if not, the note is a counterfeit. Should the number of the note come between the series of Treasury numbers, deduct the first number of the series from the number on the note, add the difference to the first bank number given in the same series, and if the number obtained is the same as the bank number on the note, it may be taken as genuine. Example: A ten-dollar note on National Bank of Commerce, New York city, No. 102,-175, is presented. It comes between the series of Treasury numbers 101,979—102,978. To decide if it is genuine, from 102,175 deduct the first number of the series, 101,979; add the difference (196) to the first bank number in the same series, (10,001,) and it makes 10,197. Should this be the bank number on the note, the chances are almost infinite that the note is genuine. Again: a five-dollar note on First National Bank of Tamaqua, Pa., is presented, No. 784,051. On glancing at the list, you discover that no such number has been issued to the bank, and reject the note without further examination as a counterfeit. The counterfeiters have so far been without a system in numbering notes, and there is not one chance in two thousand that the number on a counterfeit will come between any series of Treasury numbers. Should the Treasury number happen to come between a series of genuine numbers, the chances are almost infinite that the bank number on the note would not come between the bank numbers given in the same series. A calculation as given above would hardly ever be necessary, except in case a genuine note was presented about which a doubt existed.

Every counterfeit bank note that has been issued so far, with the exception of the 5 on the Pocasset National Bank of Fall River, Mass., bears the name F. E. Spinner as Treasurer. The charter number (which is now printed across the face of all bank-notes in large red figures) is given in bold-face type in this list. All notes having different charter numbers from those given in this list are counterfeit.

☞ The numbers given in this list embrace only the numbers on these notes issued prior to 1875. All notes of the series of 1875 are genuine, that series not having been counterfeited up to the present time.

COUNTERFEIT UNITED STATES NOTES.

In this list we divide the issue of United States notes designated by the Treasury Department as "new issue" (so called because they superseded the first issue, or demand notes) into four series: 1st. Those issued under act of February 25, 1862, and exchangeable at par for U. S. bonds. A second issue under the same act, called "new series," (which is printed on all this issue just below the number,) were not exchangeable for U. S. bonds, (see back of both this and the first issue.) 3d. Those issued under the act of July 11, 1862, of which only the "ones" and "twos" bear the date of the act. 4th. Those issued under the act of March 3, 1863. All of these issues bear the signatures of L. E. Chittenden as Register, and F. E. Spinner as Treasurer. The act of March 3, 1863, limited the time U. S. notes of February 25, 1862, (first issue,) could be exchanged at par for U S. bonds, to July 1, 1863. In consequence of the demand of some banks, subsequent to July, 1863, for U. S. bonds in exchange for these convertible notes, the Treasurer issued orders to the Assistant Treasurers to forward these notes for redemption; and they were retired as rapidly as they came into the Treasury. This policy has left very few of these convertible notes in circulation. Of these issues but two counterfeits have been put in circulation (out of the 15 issued) that would be likely to deceive an expert—50's and 1,000's.

The counterfeits of the "series of 1869" were considered dangerous enough to warrant the Treasury in preparing new plates for both the 50's and the 500's.

In the following list we have not been able to satisfy ourselves in regard to all the check-letters given, as the Treasury, while having a complete set of counterfeits of all issues and denominations, has not all the different check-letters of each denomination counterfeited. In order fully to protect our patrons, we give all the check-letters of each denomination which have been reported counterfeited upon fair authority. We print the check-letters in full-face type (A) in all cases where we have examined the counterfeit; the letters given in plain roman (A) are those reported as in circulation which we have not seen. We will be much obliged if bankers or others will forward to us, at our expense, for examination, any counterfeit where we do not give the check-letter in full-face type.

United States notes are printed in sheets of four notes of one denomination on each sheet. Those notes are lettered, respectively, in the upper and lower corners diagonally opposite, A, B, C, and D. Each United States note has a distinct number, and the notes are always numbered in their order on the sheets; thus, all notes of letter A will be 1, or a number which if divided by 4 would leave 1 remainder; B, 2; C, 3, and D, 4, or the number will be divided by 4 without a remainder. This test, while not by any means certain, will enable any one to detect one-third of the counterfeits in circulation. Any United States note upon which the number cannot be divided by four without showing the above result is a counterfeit. Bear in mind that all genuine notes with letters A and C will have odd numbers, and all with B and D even numbers.

We think the following list will be found to be one of the most complete published. The public can rely that it is perfectly trustworthy—that it embraces all the counterfeits known at the Treasury, and only such counterfeits as are in circulation.

1's.

Act July 11, 1862. Dated August 1, 1862

(A) B (C) D

A poor counterfeit. Engraving very coarse, particularly the head of Chase. Numbers irregular and of bad color. On the genuine the small "ones" in circles in border at top and bottom of note are very plain; in counterfeit they can hardly be distinguished. It is impossible to trace the lines in the lathe work.

2's.

Act July 11, 1862. Dated August 1, 1862.

C D

A poor counterfeit. Engraving very coarse, especially the head of Hamilton. Shading of the words "United States" in large letters and engraving of "National Bank Note Company" in lower border of face of note poorly done. Impossible to trace the lines in the lathe work.

5's.

Act February 25, 1862. Dated March 10, 1863.

A

A poor counterfeit. This note has what is known as a "convertible" back. All genuine notes of this issue are dated March 10, 1862. As this counterfeit is dated March 10, 1863, its detection is a matter of certainty, even to those unacquainted with the genuine.

5's.

Act March 3, 1863. Dated March 10, 1863.

A (B) (C) D

A poor counterfeit. Engraving of the vignette of Hamilton and statue of Liberty very coarse. Shading of "United States" in large letters on face of note poorly done. Impossible to trace the lines in the lathe work.

10's.

Act February 25, 1862. Dated March 10, 1862.

C

This note is one of the convertible series. Engraving coarse, numbering poorly done. On the genuine, the words "Printed by the National Bank Note Co." in the lower left corner on face of note touch the inside line of border of note. On the counterfeit, they are one-sixteenth of an inch above the line.

10's.

Act February 25, 1862. Dated March 10, 1862.

(A) C (D) New Series.

A good counterfeit. Engraving well done. Lathe work very good. On the genuine, the end of the line upon which the number is printed comes below the words "new series;" on the counterfeit, the end of this line comes about the centre of the words. On the genuine, the bottom of the oval line surrounding the vignette of Lincoln touches the line inclosing the words "Payable at the Treasury of the U. S. at New York." On the counterfeit, there is quite a space between these lines. Numbering very fair.

10's.

Act March 3, 1863. Dated March 10, 1863.

D New Series.

A poor counterfeit. Engraving of vignette of Lincoln and of Eagle coarse. Lathe work irregular. Numbering imperfect.

20's.

Act February 25, 1862. Dated March 10, 1862.

B C

This note is one of the convertible series. A poor counterfeit. Engraving of vignette in centre of note poorly done. Impossible to trace lines in the lathe work. On the genuine, the words "Patented 30 June, 1857," are printed across the face of the note in green in the lower left corner and to the left of the word "Washington." On the counterfeit this is omitted.

20's.

Act February 25, 1862. Dated March 10, 1862.

A (B) (C) (D) New Series.

A very poor counterfeit. Engraving very coarse, especially of vignette in centre of note. Lathe work on back of note so coarse as to be hardly an imitation of the genuine. The engraving of the words "Payable at the Treasury," &c., under the vignette, is so poorly done that almost any one could readily detect this note.

20's.

Act of March 3, 1863. Dated March 10, 1863.

A

A very poor counterfeit. Engraving coarse. A certain test may be had as this note has a convertible back. No genuine convertible notes issued under this act.

20's.

Act of March 3, 1863. Dated March 10, 1863.

A (B) (C) (D) New Series.

A poor counterfeit. Engraving especially of vignette in centre of note very coarse. Shading of "United States," in large letters on face of note, poorly done. Lathe work on back of note so coarse as to be hardly an imitation of genuine.

50's.

Act of February 25, 1862. Dated March 10, 1862.

C

This note is one of the convertible series. A poor counterfeit. "Series 1" under number in upper right corner, and figure 2 under letter C on upper left of note. Engraving poor, especially of the vignette of Hamilton. Numbering very imperfect.

50's.

Act of March 3, 1863. Dated March 10, 1863.

A B C D New Series, 1.

A poor counterfeit. Engraving of vignette of Hamilton poorly done. Shading of "United States," in large letters on face of note, coarse. Numbering imperfect. Lathe work irregular. On these counterfeits, the distance between the signatures of Chittenden and Spinner is 1⅛ inches; on all genuine notes of this issue and series, "new series, 1," below the number, the distance is 1⅝ inches.

50's.

Act March 3, 1863.
Patented April 28th, 1863, on upper left of note.

A C D

Dated March 10, 1863.
New Series, 2.

One of the most dangerous counterfeits in existence. Engraving of vignette of Hamilton fully equal to the genuine. Numbering excellent. The buttons on the coat are not as distinct as on the genuine. On the genuine, the white lines that divide the nine small 50's surrounding the large 50, on both ends of the note, can be seen to cross the centre of the large 0. On the counterfeit, they do not. On left end of back of note the cipher in second 50 from the bottom is omitted. This omission renders the detection of this counterfeit a certainty.

50's.

Act of March 3, 1863.

B

Series of 1869.

A good counterfeit. Genuine notes of the issue were all printed on fibre paper; no attempt is made to imitate the fibre on this counterfeit. Lathe work well done; numbering good. On the genuine, between "Series of" and "1869," on upper left of face of note, is a small flourish. This is omitted on the counterfeit.

100's.

Act February 25, 1862.

B C

Dated March 10, 1862.

A poor counterfeit. This note is one of the convertible series. There are probably very few genuine notes in circulation. "Series 1," just below the number. In the numbering, the figures used are much longer than on the genuine; are imperfect, and of bad color. The engraving of the feathers on the eagle's wing is coarsely done, and gives the work a scratchy appearance. Lathe work very poor.

500's

Act of March 3, 1863.

Series of 1869.

A very dangerous counterfeit. Engraving and workmanship fully equal to the genuine. The points of difference are so few that, upon its appearance, the Treasury issued enlarged photographs of both genuine and counterfeit, in order to point out the trifling discrepancies. Bankers and others should refuse all these notes, as it is only by a comparison of the genuine and counterfeit that the defects can be discovered. Very few are now outstanding—but 1,494 notes—out of nearly $45,000,000 issued, as the Treasury has endeavored to retire this issue. The plate has not yet been captured.

1,000's.

Act March 3, 1863.

(D)

Dated March 10, 1862.
Dated March 10, 1863.

A very dangerous counterfeit. Engraving nearly equal to the genuine. The lathe work on this note is a little blurred and irregular, but all bankers should decline to receive these notes. The points of difference are so few that the Treasury issued enlarged photographs of both genuine and counterfeit, in order to point out the trifling discrepancies. A singular mistake was made in the genuine issue under this act, which the counterfeiters copied, that of dating the notes March 10, 1862, instead of 1863; this error was corrected in a subsequent issue of the genuine. Very few of those notes are now outstanding, but 892 notes out of nearly $156,000,000 issued. This plate has not yet been captured.

OUR AGENTS.

27 We have not space to publish the names of our agents as formerly. Liberal terms will be made with parties who will act as canvassers. Parties applying immediately will be given exclusive territory. No application will be considered unless accompanied with reference. For terms address A. S. Pratt & Son, Publishers, Washington, D. C.

OFFICE OF U. S. ASSISTANT TREASURER,
NEW YORK, August 26, 1878.

I have examined the tables of "Called six per cent. bonds" in your COUNTERFEIT DETECTOR for August, and find them compact and easy of reference; they are of value to brokers and all parties handling Government bonds. The list of "Stolen Registered United States Bonds" should be in the hands of every banker and broker.

W. G. WHITE, Cashier.

ADVERTISING RATES.

This work being recognized everywhere as the highest authority, offers peculiar inducements to advertisers. With a present monthly edition of 2,000, and a constantly-increasing subscription list, we are sure the rates published below must command favorable consideration.

The following are the rates of advertising by the year:

One Page	$30
½ Page	17
¼ Page	10
Banker's Card, One-Tenth Page, with one year's Subscription	5
Banker's Card, One-Tenth Page, when party is a Subscriber	3
Banker's Card, One-Tenth Page	4
Miscellaneous Advertisements, One-Tenth Page	5

Our circulation is chiefly among bankers, brokers, and prominent business houses throughout the country, thus making the work a desirable medium for advertisers.

A. S. PRATT & SON, Publishers.

STOLEN UNITED STATES BONDS.

REGISTERED Bonds of the following acts, numbers, and denominations are caveated upon the books of the Treasury Department, January 3, 1879.

☞ This list will be corrected monthly.

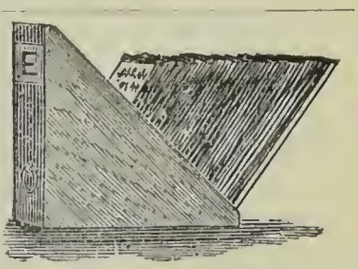
WOODRUFF'S

File-Holders

ARE



Used in all the Government Departments, and in many Public and Private Offices throughout the Country.

Strings, straps, and rubber-bands greatly injure papers, soon wearing them out, and are very inconvenient. Woodruff's File-Holders preserve papers perfectly, compress them tightly, and may be filled and filed away, and when needed, opened without a moment's delay: thus saving time, preserving papers, and securing instant and accurate reference. They are made of different sizes, and now offered at redueed prices.

MANUFACTORY AND SALESROOM,
705 and 707 Ninth street N. W., Washington, D. C.

TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON, December 11, 1878.

The file-holders invented and manufaetured by Mr. E. W. Woodruff of this city are extensively used in this office, and have been found extremely convenient, useful, and satisfactory.

TREASURER'S RULINGS.

We reprint the circular requiring the sender to pay the charges on National Bank notes forwarded for redemption, and give the rulings of the Treasurer on this point.

TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES,
WASHINGTON, September 24, 1878.

On and after October 1, 1878, the charges for the transportation of National Bank notes to the Treasurer of the United States for redemption under the act approved June 20, 1874, (18 Statutes, 123,) must be paid by the party making the remittance. If the charges are not prepaid the amount thereof will be deducted from the proceeds.

JAS. GILFILLAN,
Treasurer U. S.

The expression "for redemption" (used in Circular requiring the senders to pay charges for transportation of National Bank notes) covers remittances for credit of the five-per-cent. fund, inasmuch as the bank notes must be redeemed before the proceeds can be credited.

Express charges on National Bank notes forwarded for redemption and returns, or credit of five-per-cent. fund, will, if not prepaid, be deducted for the present at contract rates. The contract rates do not, however, govern the charges when they are prepaid.

If the charges at Government contract rates are deducted from the proceeds of remittances of National Bank notes for redemption, returns can be made in new legal-tender notes by express only to the party making the remittance.

Standard Silver Dollars will be returned at the expense of the Mint, in even thousands, in exchange for National Bank-Notes. Expressage on the bank-notes received will be deducted at contract rates, unless prepaid.

If the charges are prepaid by the sender, at private rates, returns will be made by the Treasurer's check, if so requested, drawn, as the shipper shall request, on any Assistant Treasurer of the United States with whom there is a Transfer account, and payable to the order of the sender, or of his correspondent.

Returns for remittances of National Bank notes from Boston, New York, and Philadelphia, will still be made by transfer-checks on the Assistant Treasurers in the cities from which the remittances are received.

For the present no charges will be deducted for United States notes returned by express for National Bank notes redeemed.

Mutilated legal-tender notes may be forwarded to this office for credit of the five-per-cent fund, but the express charges, if not prepaid, will be deducted from the proceeds of the remittance at Government contract rates.

Assistant Treasurers are not authorized to receive remittances of money by express for credit of the five-per-cent. fund. Banks not situated in a city where there is an Assistant Treasurer, which desire to make a deposit with an Assistant Treasurer for credit of their five-per-cent. account, should make the deposit through their correspondents.

Assistant Treasurers and designated depositaries of the United States, and National Bank depositaries, are required to receive, in payment of public dues, and on account of transfer of funds, all National Bank notes redeemable at their full face value by this office.

OPINIONS.

POST OFFICE, NEW YORK CITY,

The cashier of this post-office has carefully examined your List of Counterfeit Bank Notes, and considers it one of the best that has hitherto been brought to his notice.

He adds, list of numbers appended will prove of especial value in detecting false issues.

THOMAS L. JAMES, Postmaster.

NATIONAL PARK BANK,
NEW YORK CITY.

We have examined your Counterfeit Detector, and think it invaluable. * * *

E. K. WRIGHT, Cashier.

OFFICE ASSISTANT TREASURER U. S.,
CHICAGO, ILL.

My tellers have had Underwood's Counterfeit List in use for some months past, and find it useful in detecting counterfeits.

I consider it the most complete and reliable publication of the kind I have yet seen.

FRANK GILBERT, Asst. Treas., U. S.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

It is an invaluable aid to all who are in the habit of handling notes of the National Banks.

F. E. SPINNER.

STRAFFORD NATIONAL BANK,
DOVER, N. H.

I should not want to be without it; have seen nothing that can compare with it.

E. R. BROWN, Cashier.

UNITED STATES INTERNAL REVENUE,
COLLECTOR'S OFFICE, BALTIMORE.

After a careful examination of your Counterfeit List—by myself and by my deputy in charge of my counter—I have no hesitation in saying that it must prove of great value to every teller or other person handling bank notes, whether in banks, public offices, or in ordinary places of business. It is arranged so as to furnish a most convenient and thorough means of detecting counterfeit notes, and the information it contains, derived from sources so reliable, must be valuable alike to experts and to those without experience—all in a form compact and easily intelligible, for which you are entitled to great credit.

R. M. PROUD, Collector.

POST OFFICE,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Copy of Underwood's Counterfeit Detector just received. It is the best I've ever seen, being replete with valuable information. I look upon it as a necessity.

A. JACKSON,
Supt. M. O. Dept.

OFFICE ASSISTANT TREASURER U. S.,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

I have examined your work containing a complete list of counterfeit National Bank and U. S. Treasury notes. No persons handling large sums of money should be without it.

C. C. FLANDERS, Receiving Teller.

ADAMS EXPRESS COMPANY,
NEW YORK CITY.

After an examination of your List, it gives me pleasure to say we consider that it affords those using it complete protection from counterfeit National Bank Notes. We intend placing it in the hands of our cashiers and agents.

I. C. BABCOCK, Treasurer.

THIRD NATIONAL BANK,
BUFFALO, N. Y.

I have examined your Counterfeit List, and consider it the most complete work of the kind I have ever seen.

SAMUEL A. PROVOOST, JR., Cashier.

OFFICE ASSISTANT TREASURER U. S.,
BOSTON, MASS.

I consider it a valuable reference, and to business people invaluable, where there is any doubt as to the genuineness of a note, and so full in description that any intelligent person will be entirely protected by consulting it.

We have examined your list of Counterfeit and Stolen Notes, and find it very useful to all who have to handle Government and Bank Notes.

RIGGS & CO.

NATIONAL BANK OF REDEMPTION,
BOSTON, MASS.

I have examined your Counterfeit List, and believe it to be thoroughly comprehensive, clear, and exact in information required to detect Counterfeit and Stolen Notes; invaluable to Merchants and Bankers. Shall recommend it to our customers and correspondents.

E. A. PRESBREY, Cashier.

CHARITON COUNTY EXCHANGE BANK,
BRUNSWICK, MO.

I herewith hand you my draft, No. 2167, in payment of our subscription to Underwood's Detector for the ensuing year. We have taken Underwood's List since its first issue, and regard it invaluable to every banker.

J. A. MERCHANT, Cashier.

NATIONAL METROPOLITAN BANK,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

The information furnished by your List is the most complete, reliable, and invaluable to Banks I have ever seen. It should have universal circulation.
